Biography: Venus Barrington (she/her/they/them) is a writer from St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador. She believes that writing is a form of therapy, hence the themes of female and queer identity often prevalent in her work. Ever since taking acting lessons as a child, she has aspired to become a performer. In 2022, she wrote and performed her one-woman monologue “With Apologies to Nancy Benoit” for the St. John's short festival. She is openly transgender and advocates for queer and female representation in the art community.
